The Goal Is Mandatory Vaccinations for all Humans on the Planet

By: Ingrid Cassel

As we gear up for the 2016 legislative session, we need to prepare for our right to defend the most fundamental of human rights: The right to decide what will or will NOT be injected into our bodies. On September 25, 2015, the UN's Agenda 2030 Climate Change Agreement was passed in New York. It effects every person who lives today – the agreement contains as a goal mandatory vaccinations for all humans on the planet.

Transforming our world: the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, Introduction, #16 states. "Almost fifteen years ago, the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) were agreed. These provided an important framework for development and significant progress has been made in a number of areas. But the progress has been uneven, particularly in Africa, least developed countries, landlocked developing countries, and small island developing States, and some of the MDGs remain off-track, in particular those related to maternal, newborn and child health and to reproductive health. We recommit ourselves to the full realization of all the MDGs, including the off-track MDGs, in particular by providing focussed and scaled-up assistance to least developed countries and other countries in special situations, in line with relevant support programmes. The new Agenda builds on the Millennium Development Goals and seeks to complete what these did not achieve, particularly in reaching the most vulnerable."

A myriad of booklets have been published by the World Health Organization (WHO) since September, 2015, to go along with Sec. 5 of the MDGs related to Maternal, newborn and child health, http://www.who.int/reproductivehealth/publications/maternal_perinatal_health/en/ They include, but are not limited to:

- 1) Pregnancy, childbirth, postpartum and newborn care: A guide for essential practice (3rd edition) Authors: World Health Organization, United Nations Population Fund, UNICEF, The World Bank. It is 184 pages, published in September, 2015. Pulled from the Internet on November 18, 2015, since "WHO has been alerted to concerns expressed related to the wording on episiotomy in specific situations. We have temporarily removed the publication from the website while we are doing a review of the evidence with in-house and external experts. We will make the publication available on the website once the review is completed and any needed revisions are made."
- 2) WHO recommendations on interventions to improve pre-term birth outcomes, 98 pp, author: WHO, language: English. "The primary audience for this guideline includes health-care professionals who are responsible for developing national and local health-care protocols and policies, as well as managers of maternal and child health programmes and policy-makers in all settings. The guideline will also be useful to those directly providing care to pregnant women and pre term infants, such as obstetricians, pediatricians, midwives, nurses and general practitioners. The information in this guideline will be useful for developing job aids and tools for pre- and in-service training of health workers to enhance their delivery of maternal and neonatal care relating to pre-term birth."

- 3) WHO safe childbirth checklist implementation guide: Improving the quality of facility-based delivery for mothers and newborns, 61 pp, English, an excerpt of which is below: http://apps.who.int/iris/bitstream/10665/199179/1/WHO_HIS_SDS_2015.26_eng.pdf?ua=1&ua=1

WHO SAFE CHILDBIRTH CHECKLIST IMPLEMENTATION GUIDE 12

BACKGROUND AND OVERVIEW

Several Checklist items require administering medications such as antibiotics, magnesium sulfate, antihypertensives, and oxytocin. The Checklist does not list specific antibiotics, anti-hypertensives because guidelines used across the world may require different pharmaceuticals in different locations. In adapting the Checklist to your facility, select antibiotics according to your nation's or to WHO's guidelines. Similarly, plan dosages and treatment courses for all medications according to these guidelines.

Introduction, #21 states: "The new Goals and targets will come into effect on 1 January 2016 and will guide the decisions we take over the next fifteen years. All of us will work to implement the Agenda within our own countries and at the regional and global levels..."

The most important freedom issue is the right to own our own bodies and have complete medical power of attorney over those in our care, our children and elderly parents. If this issue is important to you, then please join the VaxRightsIdaho yahoo group. This is an easy way to alert everyone to anything that needs to happen right away this coming legislative session.

What you can do

The first thing to do is to find out who your legislators are NOW. Go to this page [http://legislature.\(your state\).gov/about/12districtmap.pdf](http://legislature.(your state).gov/about/12districtmap.pdf) Then take your district number to find out your senator and representatives Example for Idaho: <http://legislature.idaho.gov/about/contactbydistrict.cfm> Write down the information and then email them or call them. It would actually be best to call them while they are not in session since many of them claim they get too much email and you want to establish a working relationship with them. You may even ask when you get meet them face to face, over coffee somewhere. Ask them what their position is on vaccination. Also ask them if they believe the state has the right to force people to vaccinate themselves or their children without the state accepting liability for known adverse effects including permanent disability and death. Make notes on where they stand or, if it is in email, forward their response to me and/or VaxRightsIdaho@yahoo.com.

Idaho Representative Heather Scott is sponsoring a bill that is posted in draft form. She sent it off December 9, 2015 to get printed. It was supposed to be printed two years ago but it never got into bill form. View the proposed bill here <http://www.vaccinetruth.info/> Copy and paste this bill into letter format and send it to your state representative, and ask him/her to introduce something similar. We need more stories to show the need for this bill to pass, stories about vaccine damage or death as a result of vaccines. The link to the feedback we need is here <http://www.vaccinetruth.info/IdahoForm.htm>

I also believe that it is good to be visible with our efforts. North Idaho has a monthly support group in Sandpoint, Idaho. If you are so inclined, it would be good to get a support group going in your county. VaxRightsIdaho can assist you with that effort if you are interested. See <http://www.vaclib.org/news/sandpoint2015.htm>

Also, on this page, we have two opinions from Idaho's Attorney General's office. <http://www.vaclib.org/legal/Idaholegis.htm> A lot of other information pertaining to Idaho and vaccine exemptions is also on this page. We have added a donation button since this effort will need funding and we are actively soliciting donations. Any donation over $100 will be sent the book, The Vaccine Religion: Mass Mind & the Struggle for Human Freedom by Walene James.

It has been rumored that California is already implementing various aspects of the Climate Treaty recently passed in Paris. As you know, the state has already passed a mandatory vaccine agenda to deny all children a public education if they are not fully vaccinated with all 169 vaccines currently mandated by the CDC. In addition there is currently legislation before Congress to deny all veterans any government veterans if they are not fully vaccinated with the CDC's current schedule of vaccines for adults. All of this is coming at us at the same time as whistle blowers in the CDC are coming out of the closet, and even Robert Kennedy Jr. is coming out exposing all of the fraud and conflicts of interest between the CDC and the pharmaceutical companies that make billions of dollars annually on these vaccines. My question is, how is mandatory vaccination related to "preventing Climate Change" by "reducing our carbon footprint"? Unless, that is the purpose behind it is to reduce the global population.

Thank you in advance for all your efforts educating your legislators AND community members. Many of us sharing truthful vaccine information will be the ticket for our bills to pass AND defeat 'their' plans to take away our exemption rights.

IRS CAN NOW RESTRICT YOUR RIGHT TO TRAVEL

The US Congress often passes legislation dealing with multiple topics. One of the most well-known examples of the Congress passing legislation within legislation is REAL ID. Jim Babka of the DownsizeDC Foundation writes, "The REAL ID Act did something Americans have always rejected. It created a national identification system. This idea had so little support it couldn't even be brought to a vote in the Senate. But Congressional leaders got it passed anyway. They attached it to a bill Senators were afraid to oppose — the "Emergency, Supplemental Appropriations Act for Defense, the Global War on Terror, and Tsunami Relief." (May, 2005)

Senators were scared to defeat a bill that funded the troops, so the REAL ID Act became the law of the land."

REAL ID has not yet been fully implemented, and a handful of state governments have opted not to comply with the provisions of REAL ID. If REAL ID is ever implemented by the federal government, people with a drivers license from Louisiana, Minnesota, New Hampshire, or New York will need a passport in order to avoid intense scrutiny from the TSA if they wish to fly, and may be denied access to federal buildings. CNN reports that approximately 9.5 million drivers licenses have been issued in those states.

On the surface this doesn't seem like a big deal — 3% of Americans will need a passport to enter a federal building or get on a flight — until you realize that over 60% of Americans don't have a valid passport, and the Congress has just granted the IRS the authority to revoke the passport of anyone with a delinquent tax debt in excess of $50,000. Like REAL ID, the section of law titled "Revocation or Denial of Passport in Case of Certain Tax Delinquencies" was passed as a provision of an unrelated bill, the Fixing America's Surface Transportation Act, (aka "FAST Act").

Forbes reports, "this $50,000 figure includes penalties and interest. And as everyone knows, interest and penalties can add up fast."

As with all other numerical figures in statute, the $50,000 number could always be lowered to include any amount of alleged delinquent tax debt. As if this weren't bad enough, the fees for expatriating from the United States were recently increased by 422% from $450 to $2,350. And according to the US State Department to renounce United States citizenship someone must appear before a US consular or diplomatic officer in a foreign country. With very few exceptions, an American citizen wishing to emigrate from the United States will need a valid passport. These new rules mean that for some people, those from the non-REAL ID states are especially susceptible, the fundamental right to travel can now be limited or restricted because one government agency claims they owe money.

Does restricting the right to travel, whilst simultaneously telling people "love it, or leave it" really sound like something that should happen in the so-called "Land of the Free"?
