"To thine own self be true and it must follow, as night the day, thou canst not be false to any man." —Shakespeare, Hamlet

Lady Liberty ain't no lady; she's a whore! Mitt, Newt and Rick are all for sale to the highest corporate bidder. Since Jan. 20, 2010, when the black-robed bastards in the Supreme Court decided that corporations were people ("Citizens United" vs. Federal Election Commission), the "super PAC" was created whereby high profile political candidates could receive even more funds than the former Political Action Committees (PACS). The only presidential candidate who isn't corporate compromised is Ron Paul. The corporate controlled "lamestreet" press is insuring that his message of truth is kept under wraps!

"The Leader Who Had No Title" by Robin Sharma provides the solution to this problem of government "of, by and for the corporations" by creating activist citizens who are willing to "Occupy" every government agency and hold them responsible and accountable to the will of the people.

Pages 16 and 17 state, "The only way any organization—or any human being—will win in these times of revolutionary change will be to start operating under a revolutionary new model of leadership. This model is all about creating an environment and culture where everyone needs to show leadership. Everyone needs to drive innovation. Everyone needs to inspire their teammates. Everyone needs to embrace change. Everyone needs to take responsibility for results. Everyone needs to be positive. Everyone needs to become devoted to expressing their absolute best. And once they do, the organization will not only adapt beautifully to the changing conditions, it will actually lead within its field.

We need the people on the executive team setting the vision, steering the boat, and holding ultimate responsibility for the results. Titles and structures maintain order and keep everything running smoothly. Each one of us needs to assume personal responsibility by becoming the CEO of our own

Cities Turn into Police States for Political Conventions

By: John Connor,
 Human Resistance
 Leader

Two cities have their hands full preparing for the upcoming Republican and Democratic National Conventions later this year. As officials in Tampa, Florida, make plans to manage an estimated 15,000 protesters expected to descend on the city during the four-day Republican gathering in August, their counterparts in Charlotte, North Carolina, are also ramping up crowd-control training in the run-up to the DNC.

Tens of millions of dollars are being allocated in federal grants, and local officials in both cities are preparing unprecedented crackdowns on the right to peacefully assemble. Preparation for conventions by the two tightly controlled political parties has already partially transformed both Tampa and Charlotte into mini-police states. The aim is to manage the thousands of people who are expected to peacefully protest the events, carrying on the long tradition of dissent at the major parties' nominating conventions.

Notable Quotables

"A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the majority discovers it can vote itself largess out of the public treasury. After that, the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits with the result the democracy collapses because of the loose fiscal policy ensuing, always to be followed by a dictatorship, followed by a monarchy."

—Professor Alexander Fraser Tytler (1747-1813), British lawyer and writer

"Nations are not ruined by one act of violence, but gradually and in an almost imperceptible manner, by the depreciation of their circulating currency, through excessive quantity."

—Nicolaus Copernicus, Renaissance Astronomer (1473-1543)

"Blood feeds the war machine; As it eats a way across the land. We don't need to feel the sorrow No remorse is the one command; War without end"

—Metallica, "No Remorse"; Hetfield, Ulrich, 1983

Fun Facts

Would You Like a Little Pol Pot on Your Mao Tse Tung?

The US is always blamed for the genocide that occurred in Cambodia after the end of the Vietnam War. However, it should be noted that almost all of the Khmer Rouge came from Mao in Red China. The rising Cambodian leader Pol Pot worshipped Mao Tse Tung, whom he went to see in person at least four times. During these visits Pol Pot was taught different types of warfare, such as encircling cities from the countryside. By 1970, China had given Pol Pot armed equipment for 30,00 soldiers. After seizing the Cambodian capital city of Phnom Penh, Pol Pot made another visit to Beijing to learn even more. He was told that to eliminate any future opposition to his rule he must "even kill the fetus" to prevent any trouble in the future. Pol Pot obeyed without protest and this method was said to provide great delight to soldiers who had grown bored with overly regimented types of mass murder.

Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center

The Mount Weather Special Facility is a Continuity of Government (COG) installation operated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). It is the underground headquarters that Dick Cheney was reportedly whisked off to after the false-flag 9/11 event. This facility consists of two parts: the aboveground FEMA complex and the 600,000-square-foot underground facility which also houses FEMA's National Emergency Coordinating Center. This bunker is located on a 434-acre mountain site about 48 miles west of Washington, DC in Bluemont, Virginia. The aboveground support facilities include about a dozen buildings providing communications links to the White House Situation Room. Mount Weather has its own leaders, its own police and fire departments and even its own laws. You can access Mount Weather via Virginia State Route 601, but your odds of making it past the armed guards on doomsday aren't good—unless you're a priceless work of art. The National Gallery of Art is rumored to have developed a program to transport valuable paintings to the bunker via helicopter in the event of disaster.

roles and leaders within our current position. We all need to lead where we are planted and shine where we now find ourselves.

The awesome result of revealing leadership within the area of influence you're now in is that the more you do it, the more your area of influence will expand. The highest of all human abilities is the ability each one of us has to choose how we respond to the environment we find ourselves within.

The 'Leader Without Title' (LWT) is a transformational philosophy for work and life that anyone, of any age, from any place in any country in the world right now can apply to unleash their 'inner leader' and experience awesome results within minutes. We all have an 'inner leader' inside of us, longing to break free. We all have a natural power to lead that has nothing to do with a big title, or how old we are, or where we live."

One of the best places to assert leadership is within your local government. Very few people attend their local government's monthly meeting. This is where your individual leadership must begin. The saying "Think globally, act locally" must be applied by all of us in order to restore this fascist, corporate controlled tyranny to a constitution-based republic. WE MUST ALL BECOME "LEADERS WITHOUT TITLES". S

Cities Turn into Police States

Tampa is gearing up for the RNC with tanks and digital surveillance helicopters. Tampa Police will be assisted by the CIA and US military and use armored vehicles for day-to-day patrolling and crowd control. There is no secret about this, as armored vehicles were displayed at the Occupy Tampa protest site. City officials also plan to deploy anywhere between 3,000 to 4,000 officers to establish a "security corridor" around the RNC. Police will also be used to sweep the homeless off the street before the convention so the city looks good on national TV.

Charlotte will host the DNC, and the city has received $50 million in federal grants to help pay for police lessons in crowd control. The DNC is expected to attract 35,000 attendees. The city is boosting their police ranks with an extra 2,400 to 3,400 officers from around the state who will join Charlotte's already 1,700-strong police force.

Charlotte 2012 could be even worse than Chicago 1968 for the Democrats as city officials have proposed enacting a new set of crowd control ordinances. There are new city ordinances that ban demonstrators from camping on city property and make it illegal to carry a number of items including body armor, gas masks, chains, padlocks, and lumber. Another ordinance would add more obstacles to even obtaining a permit to protest.

Ordinances and preparation in both cities will allow the police to do just about anything they want at any time. Officials are publicly bragging that they will wait the maximum 20 days before deciding whether to grant a protest permit, decide how many police are needed to oversee the assembly, and then charge demonstrators for police and fire costs.

Expect secret weapons to be rolled out as well by the Department of Homeland Security, which considers national party conventions to be "national special security events" like a G-20 summit or a meeting of the World Trade Organization (WTO). S

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some of the most brutal attacks on Occupy demonstrations have been carried out by Democratic Party mayors!
